Rippowam Cisqua School

1984

Rippowam Campus:
Route 22, Bedford, N.Y.
Cisqua Campus:
West Patent Rd., Mt. Kisco, N.Y.

Richard L. Wade
Headmaster

My first year at Rippowam Cisqua School has been an exciting, challenging one for me. Last summer I came with impressions of a school at which a sense of care for people permeated a strong academic program. I have not been disappointed. Throughout the entire school, I see parents who are involved in the life of the school and who value high quality education. I see teachers who genuinely enjoy children, who are self-critical about their own teaching, and who value achievement and hard work. I see students who enjoy each other (and the teachers too), who recognize the importance of a job well done, and who are proud of their school. That's not to say there are no problems or that there is nothing to improve; it's just to say that from a newcomer's point of view, we have a school to be proud of. May the next ten years bring continued growth as we continue to pursue excellence.

Waldo B. Jones
Head of Lower School

It is hard to believe that in ten short years we have established such a strong sense of identity in the Lower School. There are so many events which have become Cisqua traditions. Such things as: poetry at lunch, a class play for each child, the Spring picnic, Book and Science Fairs, Grandparents' Visiting Day, the C.O.P.E., the Fourth Grade CAmping Trip, Assemblies and One of the World's Largest Tooth Collections . . . create a school with a very special spirit. There is no place in the world I'd rather be.

Alice L. Welsch
Head of Middle School

1984 is an anniversary year for RCS and a celebration year for me. This year's graduating seniors were sixth graders during my first year as Head of the Middle School. Each student remains an intimate memory — an individual abounding in energy, groping to discover the answer to the question "Who am I?" Each has grown physically and emtoionally, to his own credit and to the credit of the supportive and caring educational environment of this extraordinary school. I am proud to be part of it.

Thomas M. Sydorick
Head of Upper School

1984 marks my tenth anniversary as well as Rippowam Cisqua's. My life in the past decade has had variety beyond the school, but its dimensions within the school have always been those of pleasure, fond memory, and satisfaction. The school has grown, my daughters have grown, and I have grown during these years. The school and its people — colleagues and students — have been a source of reward, warmth, kindness and grist for growth. Being with the young and watching them grow keeps me young and helps me grow.

With Special Thanks

The 1984 Yearbook is dedicated to all the people pictured on these pages: the Kitchen and Maintenance Staff of Rippowam Cisqua School.

Without them the school would not function. We appreciate their hard work and their patience.

Community Service

Community Service has been a special part of ninth grade at Rippowam Cisqua since 1977. Small groups of students volunteer their time one afternoon each week to go into the community beyond the School to help other people, who range in age from 2 to 92!

This year nearly two-thirds of the Class of 1984 made this contribution of service. Students helped children at the Bedford Christian Day School, the Westchester Exceptional Children's School in Katonah, and in BOCES classes at Mt. Kisco Elementary School. Others visited Holly House, a residential home for the elderly in South Salem. A few students tutored 5th and 6th graders in the Middle School. Many parents interrupt their own days to provide transportation for these ninth graders; their help is vital and appreciated.

One Senior summed up the Community Service experience by saying: Being able to make someone happy is the best reward you can get!

RIPPOWAM TRIUMPHS AT HARVEY!
Both Varsity Soccer teams won the 1983 Harvey Soccer Tournament. In this event eight boys' and eight girls' Fairchester teams compete in a grueling day-long series of matches which test ability, endurance, and character. Each team plays every team. Rippowam's unprecedented double triumph is commemorated in the trophies which Captains Bill Meyer, Sara Loveman, and Ally Kurian present to Mr. Wade. Captain Scott Welsch was absent for the picture. Rippowam player Philip Pilla, who last summer played for New York State teams, was voted Most Valuable Player in the Tournament.

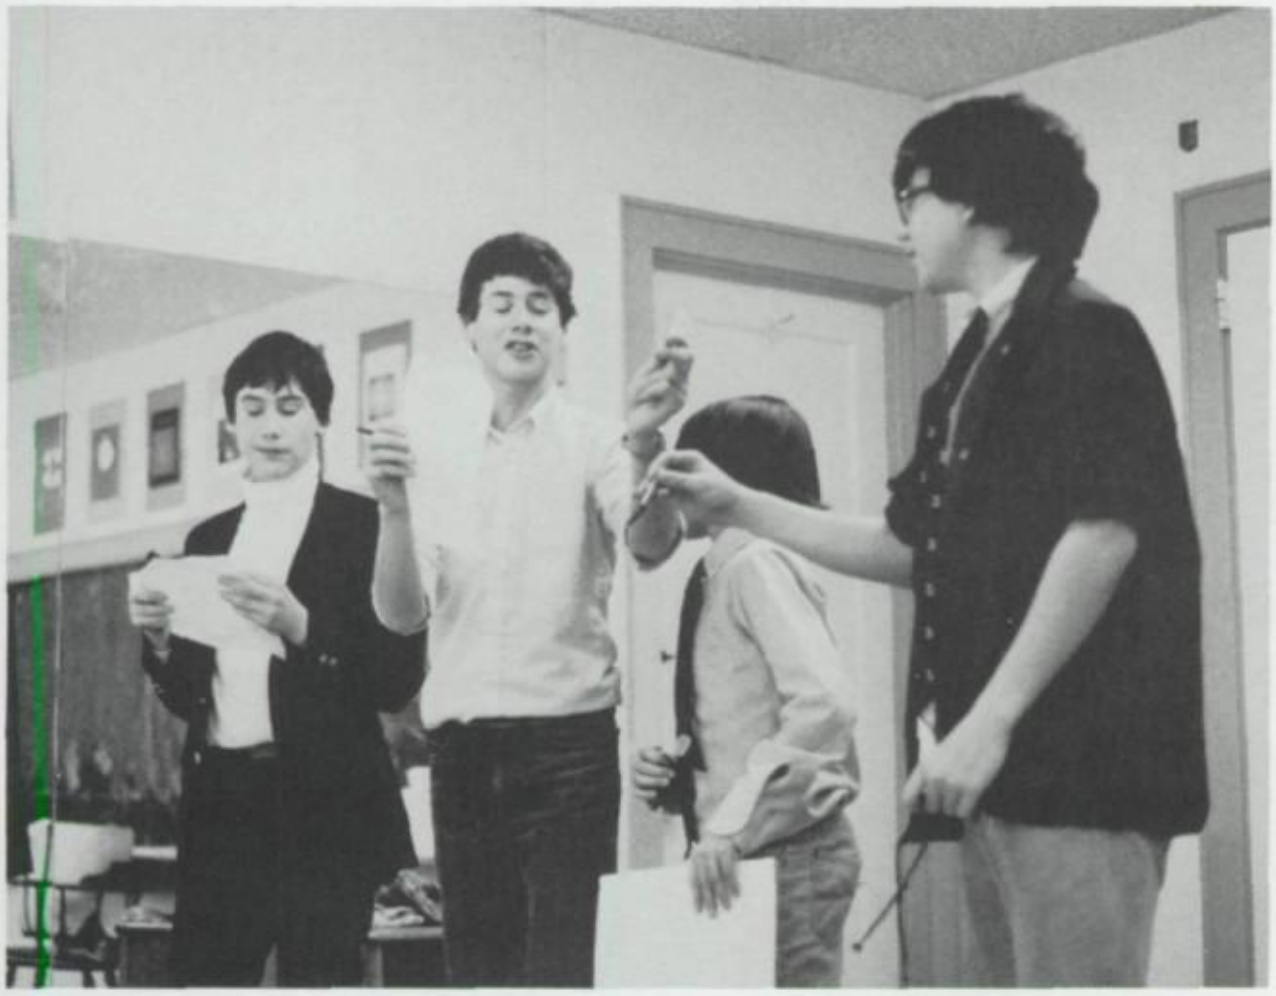
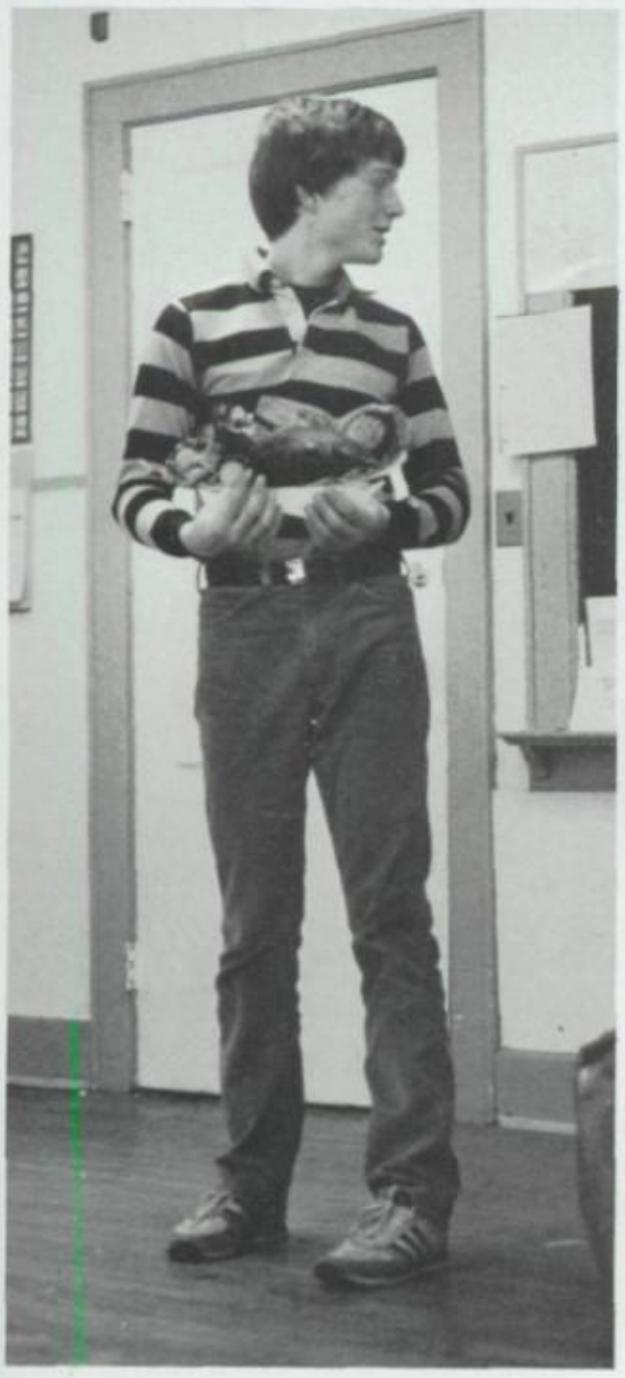
Olympics of the Mind





Olympics of the Mind is an activity which lets students expand their thinking skills by performing certain mind-boggling tasks. Each year five problems are distributed nationwide. Olympics teams work for several months to plan, write, and perform solutions to the problems. This year Rippowam went to a competition in Eastchester to perform "Chariots of Rescue."

Our team built a foot-powered vehicle which had to be maneuvered in a series of rescue tasks before it was driven in a chariot race. Six students wrote an original script which portrayed the dramatic rescue of junk food, an endangered species. Rippowam's team placed first among eight private and public high schools in Westchester-Putnam and qualified for the New York State championships in April.
